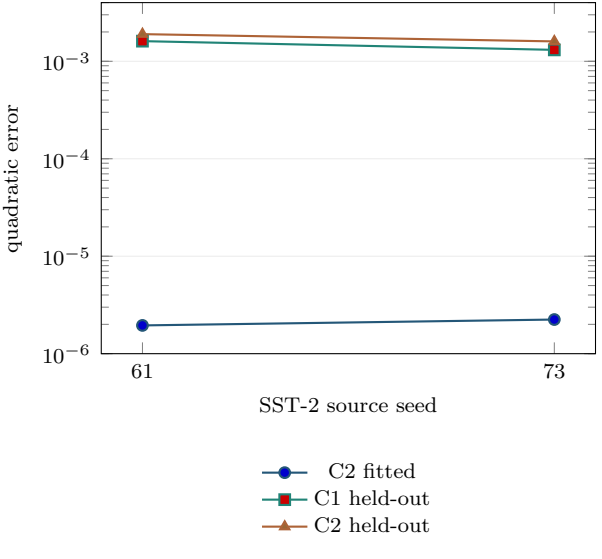
A Richer compensation can fit better yet generalize worse

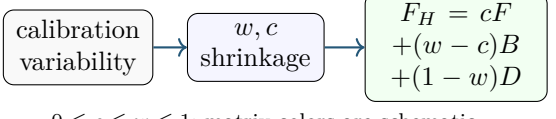


B Fixed rank, different dependency complexity

Same retained directions and target rank k

dependency complexity increases $\longrightarrow$

C Trust calibration-supported structure



$0 \le c \le w \le 1$; matrix colors are schematic.

Rank controls deployed capacity; shrinkage controls how much estimated dependency structure is trusted.